

A LEADING LADY PHYSICIAN WEDS

Dr. Rosalie Slaughter Becomes the Bride of a New York Lawyer.

A VERY STRIKING CEREMONY

A Brilliant Marriage at St. Paul's Episcopal Church,
Lynchburg.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LYNCHBURG, Va., September 6.—The marriage of Dr. Rosalie Slaughter, daughter of Washington, D. C., daughter of the late John F. Slaughter, of this city, to Mr. Baxter Morton, A. B., B. S., M. D., and a member of the New York city bar, which took place to-night at the St. Paul's Episcopal Church, in the presence of a large gathering of invited guests, together with the reception that followed at the home of the bride's brother, Dr. Samuel Garland Slaughter, was one of the most elaborate affairs of that character witnessed here for a long time. The ceremony was performed impressively by Rev. James M. Owens, the rector of the church.

THE BRIDAL PARTY.
The attendants were Miss Nellie Morton, of Morton Manor, Maryland, the maid of honor; Mr. Sturges Dunham, of New York city, best man; Miss Jackson, of Philadelphia, of Mr. Morton's household; Miss Louise Humphries, of the University of Virginia, with Mr. Henry Holladay, Jr., of Richmond, Va.; Miss Hester Slaughter, of Philadelphia, with Mr. Robert Brock, of Virginia; Miss Elizabeth Brewer, of Washington, D. C., with Mr. Thimman Hendrick, of Virginia; Miss Grace Sale, of Lynchburg, with Mr. Joseph Stobbs, of South Boston, Va.; Miss Edith Prehn, of New York city, with Mr. Brown Morton, of Washington, D. C., and Messrs. Daniel M. Sale and R. Colston Blackford, of Lynchburg.

The bride's gown was of heavy white silk, trimmed in faultly point lace. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses, while natural orange blossoms were used for her veil in position. The bridesmaids each wore costumes of white Brussels net over white silk and girdles of three shades of fern green. The style of these gowns was that of the late 18th century. Each of the bridesmaids carried a quaint French fan, which was the gift of the bride. They also carried maiden-half ferns, tied with white ribbon, and each wore a Carnot rose in her hair.

Miss Morton, the maid of honor, wore a gown of white Brussels net, which was over fern chiffon over white silk.

THE DECORATIONS.
The chancel of the church was filled with potted palms, and bride roses were placed on the altar, which was brilliantly lighted by numerous candles. Bride roses were also tied to the ends of the pews in the main aisle, a beautiful and pleasing effect being the result of this arrangement.

The affair was a choral wedding, the singing being done by the church orchestra throughout the ceremony, and the order in which the bridal party entered the main aisle of the church follows: Ribbon children, Helen Duke and Elizabeth Slaughter, niece and nephew of the bride; the choir, gowned in white, singing a bridal hymn; the bridesmaids, the ushers from either side aisle; the bride, leaning on the arm of her brother, Dr. Samuel Garland Slaughter, who gave her away, as the groom, with his best man, approached from the vestment room. With the bridal company, grouped around the chancel steps, the betrothal service occurred, after which the choir sang "The Voice That Breathed Over Eden," as the bride and groom advanced to the altar to take the marriage vows.

THE BRIDE'S CAKE.

Instead of only the three conventional prophesy trifles in the bride's cake, there were prophesies for the entire bridal party. Among these were two tiny Bermuda jewel shells of green for the first one to take an ocean voyage; a lion for the usher who should become famous; a lion for the one who would be lionized in stocks; an owl for the wisest one; a little gold grip of antique design for the greatest traveler; a tiny white satin housewife for the confirmed bachelor. The ring was placed on the bride's finger by the groom, and the bride gave him a money bag took the place of the customary single coin. The wreathed loving cup was passed to the family as well as the bride party. The guests' hands were sprinkled with rose water from a Chingalese sprinkler, sent to the bride from Ceylon, with the request that it should be used according to the custom of that country.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton will spend three weeks on an automobile and coaching trip through the mountains of Virginia and North Carolina, after which they will reside in New York city.

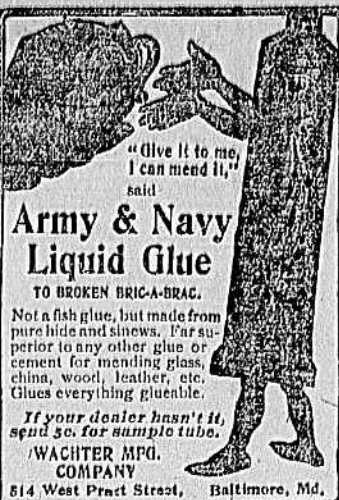

Mrs. Morton has been practicing her profession in Washington, D. C., since her return to the United States, and is a member of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia and of the Medical Association and other scientific societies.

Chief Draftsman Brings His Working Plans—Girl Believed Insane.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, Va., September 6.—The Atlantic Coast Lumber Corporation's steamer Aragon, Captain Blake, which went ashore twenty-two miles south of Cape Henry, last Monday night, arrived here this afternoon with the barge Saxon, which she was towing when both went on the beach loaded with lumber and bound from Georgetown, S. C., for Philadelphia. The wrecking tug Rescue hauled them off the beach and jettisoned about 300,000 feet of pine boards.

Captain Blake said to-night that when the steamer went on the beach he was sailing the identical course over which he sailed the Aragon fifty-four times, and attributes his disaster to the deviation of the ship's compass caused by an electrical storm which then raged. The Aragon, although leaking, escaped material damage, Captain Blake expects to proceed to Philadelphia under his own steam.

Another commission in lunacy has been called for Margaret Moran, this one, by her sister, Mrs. F. L. Moore. She says her sister is crazy and should be put under restraint, despite the fact that a commission of lunacy pronounced her sane last week. She is nineteen years of age, and was recently discharged from the Protestant Hospital, after having been cured from a number of gunshot wounds.

It was then decided by those remaining to postpone action until later.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
KEYSVILLE, Va., September 6.—The Southern Railway will place on sale home-seekers' excursion tickets from the Old and Mississippi gateways to Keysville, good for twenty-one days, at exceedingly low rates, on account of which a large influx of land-seekers is expected.

Fine farms can be bought in the vicinity of Keysville at about what it costs to build the improvements.

The stockholders of the Appomattox and Charlotte Railway Company will hold a meeting at Charlotte Courthouse, September 7th for the purpose of perfecting their plans for the immediate construction of the road. They have secured all the capital necessary, and the success of the road is now assured.

FACTORY IS BURNED.

Spark From an Engine Causes Heavy Loss at Manassas.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
MANASSAS, Va., September 6.—Borden Brothers & Company's shoe factory, located near Manassas, was completely destroyed by fire at 11 o'clock this morning. The fire originated from a spark from the engine, and when first discovered was no larger than a man's hat. Before the workmen could reach the blaze it caught to a pile of shavings and within a few minutes was beyond all control.

The factory started business less than a year ago, and gave employment to twelve men and several boys. It has been doing a profitable business, and will no doubt be rebuilt immediately. The loss is estimated from three to four thousand dollars, and it cannot be insured either or not there was insurance on this property.

GOLD IN NELSON.

A Mine Located Near the Head of Rockfish Valley.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ROCKFISH VALLEY, September 6.—A gold mine has just been discovered on the farm of "Squire J. J. Hughes, near the head of Rockfish Valley, and on the side of the Blue Ridge Mountains. An offer has been made for the mineral right, but was refused.

This section has never been prospected before, but now a mining expert, a native of California, is going through the mountains. He has located gold, copper and other minerals, with some coal.

With the finding of mineral wealth, there is also the largest crop of Albemarle pippins known for many years. Buyers are in, offering from three to four dollars per barrel for No. 1 pippins, and two for first-class red apples.

This section has only three hours' run on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad from Richmond. It would be well for some syndicate to run a railroad from Afton and open up this rich and beautiful section of the State.

Mr. C. H. Ewing, of Dublin, Ireland, is here on a visit. He is one of the largest land owners in the country, and has vast and valuable pippin apple orchards. Mr. Ewing is a prominent Irish Nationalist, and one, who has done more than a man's part for the Irish cause.

FOR LOCAL OPTION.

People of South Boston to Vote On October 5th.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
HOUSTON, Va., September 6.—Yesterday, on the petition of a large number of the qualified voters of South Boston, the question of whether license should be granted in the city was submitted to the people of South Boston, Judge Barksdale ordered a local option election to be held on Thursday, October 5, 1905, to determine the question of whether license should be granted for the sale of liquor shall be granted in said district and town.

The only voting precincts in the district are Houston and South Boston, and these two towns are the only places in the district where saloons exist. There are two in Houston and seven in South Boston. The issue of the contest is, of course, doubtful, and may be affected largely by the result of the election in the neighboring town of Danville, which comes off on the 14th of September.

The next term of the Circuit Court, fourth Monday in September, will probably be a very busy term. Among the criminal cases of interest to be tried is the one against Chandler for felonious assault on Will Pannobaker, the "father" of the mining town of Virginia, in which nearly the whole town has been summoned to testify either for the Commonwealth or the defense. Another one of the cases is the Commonwealth vs. Charles Mosley (colored), charged with the murder of Lizzie Jackson, a white woman, near Clover.

Barley's explanation is that he killed the woman, who was a fortune teller, because she refused to remove from her the spell or trick she had wrought on her.

Dr. William Bolling, charged with criminal assault on Miss Fisher, an attractive looking girl, sixteen years old, who was released from jail and bailed to appear at the last term of the court, forfeited his recognizance, and has not been heard from. His bail was fixed at $1,000.

Your paper is in error in its Monday's issue about the nominees for the House of Delegates from Halifax. J. A. Glenn defeated H. O. Kerns by fifteen votes, the vote being—Glenn, 1,131; Kerns, 1,116.

The Republicans have called a mass meeting for September 11th for the purpose of nominating candidates for the senate and House of Delegates. It is not likely that Gran Craddock, Democratic nominee for county clerk, will have any opposition.

An Impressive Scene at This Thriving North Carolina
City.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SPENCER, N. C., September 6.—In the presence of a gathering of several hundred citizens, ground was broken here last night for Spencer's new Young Men's Christian Association building, the contract for which was recently let to W. S. Grandy & Sons, of Greenville, S. C.

A programme, appropriate to the occasion, was carried out to perfection, under the direction of Mr. A. C. Van Campen, secretary of the Spencer Association.

A brief address was made by President W. H. Burton, in which he called attention to the five years of effort in securing the building, which, together with the site, located in the center of Spencer, will be valued at $27,000. He said, however, the money problem had never confronted the Spencer association.

Mayor B. F. Lively spoke on behalf of the municipality. In forceful words he thanked the officers of the organization for maintaining an association in Spencer, called attention to its value to the community, and urged every citizen to support the work being done.

On behalf of the churches of Spencer, Rev. J. E. Gay spoke of the value of the association, especially to the young men of the community. As each speaker concluded, he took a shovel of earth from the site of the building and loaded into a cart arranged for the purpose.

The Spencer Cornet Band furnished splendid music for the occasion, this being its initial appearance in public.

The first solid car-load of shoes ever brought to Spencer has just been received by the Spencer Mercantile Company, from the Craddock-Tenny Company, of Lynchburg.

By a careful examination of a deed to a house in which he is living, Mr. W. L. Ray, of this place, a few days ago discovered that another man held a deed to his house, and that he was legally the owner of the other man's home. Each had been living as door neighbors for a year, but he was startled at the unexpected discovery. A mistake was made in making the original deeds before either dwelling was erected.

FORGER IDENTIFIED.

Mumford Banking Company, of Gloucester, August 1st, was identified by B. C. Newcomb, of Sasfras, to whom the check was cashed, and John Smith, John Smith being the name to which the check was made payable. The Mumford Banking Company protested the check, and Mr. Newcomb has been clamorously seeking for the man who cashed the check.

Joe was arrested and tried before H. H. Shackelford. He is now lodged in jail, awaiting the grand jury.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
GLADSBORO, Va., September 6.—Friday night this neighborhood was visited by one of the heaviest storms that the citizens ever witnessed; the lightning and thunder was terrific, one flash of lightning right after another for nearly four hours with the roaring of thunder made the night so terrible that it will be remembered by many as long as they live.
